JULY 2019 – MID YEAR - ANALYSIS

ITEMS OF NOTE

Revenues

- Income tax receipts are up 5.58% over 2018 which is over the anticipated 3% increase originally budgeted. Hopefully the trend will continue through the end of the year.
- Investments are strong and we are taking advantage of replacing lower yielding investments in the 1-1.5% range with investments in the 2.5-2.75% range. However, there are indications of an economic down turn which could cause rates to go back down to lower yields.

PROPERTY TAXES

- Recently I was asked about the timing of property tax collections. Advances are distributed from the County generally in January and July and settlements are distributed in February and August. Homestead and Rollbacks are distributed from the State in April and September. The City budgeted a 13% increase in tax collections in 2019 and all indications appear that should be correct. We will know definitively by the end of September.

Expenditures

- Overall expenditures appear to be on track as compared to budget with no significant variations to note at this point.
- Health claims are up almost 15% over 2018, however the City still has a healthy balance to cover these claims increases in the Health Insurance Fund (600) with a balance of over $900,000. The City has increased employee contributions to combat predicted increases which has helped to keep the balance in this fund.
